

2012-2013 Winter Term 2

MATH 317 Calculus IV - Section 202

Course Outline

1 Instructor

- Martin Li
- Email: martinli@math.ubc.ca
- Office: MATX 1224
- Office Hours: Mon Wed Fri 1300-1400 at MATX 1118

2 Course Information

- Lectures: Mon Wed Fri 1200-1300 at Buchanan A202
- Textbook (required): James Stewart's "Multivariable Calculus" - 7th edition (earlier edition are acceptable, but we will follow the pages and numbering in the 7th edition)
- Course materials: Sections 13.1-13.4 and 16.1-16.9 of the textbook
- Prerequisite: One of MATH 200, MATH 226, MATH 253. (MATH 221 is recommended)
- Course webpage: <http://www.math.ubc.ca/~martinli/math317/>

3 Grading Scheme

- The course grade will be calculated based on the following:

Weekly Homework	10%	(12 homework in total, the lowest two scores will be dropped)
Midterm 1	20%	(Feb 1, 2013 - tentative)
Midterm 2	20%	(Mar 15, 2013 - tentative)
Final Exam	50%	(common to all sections, date to be announced)

4 Homework and Exam Policy

- The period for final exams is Apr 10-24, 2013 inclusive. The exact time will be announced by the University by the middle of term. Students should not make early travel plans that overlap with the scheduled exam period.
- Students will be required to bring student ID to all midterms and final exam. No calculators or notes are permitted.
- Missing a test or exam normally results in a mark of 0. Exceptions may be granted in two cases: prior consent of the instructor or a medical emergency. In the latter case, the instructor must be notified within 48 hours of the missed test, and presented with a doctor's note immediately upon the students return to UBC. A physician's note should specifically state that the student was medically unfit to write the missed exam on that day. No make-up tests will be given.
- In order to make the course grade standards consistent across sections, the raw grade for midterms may be rescaled.
- Weekly assignments will be posted on the web on Wednesdays and they are due at the beginning of the class the following Wednesday. No late assignments will be accepted.