You should have formed groups by now. Report the groups to me in your assignment. This assignment is to be done individually. I want you to select a paper (which can be one of those selected in assignment 3) and use some keyword searches to find at least two related (and new to you) articles (three if you selected the initial paper in assignment 3). As before, write summaries of the papers and discuss how they could be combined in a write up. While I imagine the groups may start working together, this work should be done independently (no overlap in a group).
